

Phase 2 to begin at Lake Country Co-op Agro Prince Albert Site

Lake Country Co-op is pleased to announce that Phase 2 of their Agro site development in the RM of Prince Albert will begin construction this spring.

This next phase builds on the successful launch of our state-of-the-art, high-volume fertilizer blending facility, which opened in late 2025. With an 8,400-tonne capacity, the facility has already received strong positive feedback from local producers and has quickly become a key asset for the region.

Phase 2 will focus on consolidating multiple Agro operations into a new, 38,000-square-foot facility designed to enhance efficiency, expand capacity, and better serve their members.

The new facility will feature a modern retail and warehouse complex, offering equipment sales, crop protection, farm hardware, and feed offerings—creating a comprehensive, one-stop destination for producers.

In addition to the Agro facility, they are excited to announce a new cardlock fuel station will be introduced, offering 24/7 pay-at-the-pump access with both credit and debit options. The site will also include amenities such as washrooms, showers, and overnight parking—providing a comfortable and convenient stop for drivers on the road. The cardlock will offer multiple grades of gasoline and diesel, including both marked (dyed) and unmarked fuels, all Top Tier certified. A diesel exhaust fluid (DEF) dispenser will also be available, with future potential to expand the site to include a truck wash.

As part of the Co-op cardlock network—the largest in Western Canada, with more than 400 locations—this addition will further enhance accessibility and convenience for their members.

This development marks another important step in strengthening their service capabilities and supporting the evolving needs of our members and communities.

Lake Country Co-op has been the Co-operative of choice for 86 years, proudly serving North Central Saskatchewan. For generations, they've supported their local communities—from travellers on the road to the farmers who drive in their region.

Whether you're looking for groceries, agro supplies, fuel, or home and building materials, they offer the products and services you can rely on. As they continue to grow, they remain committed to investing in the future of the communities everyone calls home.

For Media Inquiries:

Brittney Rosenberg, Director of Marketing & Community Relations
brittney.rosenberg@lakecountrycoop.ca